Summary of their experience

Dave Janssens is a great guy to work with when buying a home. He listens to you and helps you find the right home for your family. While previewing potential listings with Dave he pays attention to what you are looking for and shows you homes that are within that criteria. Dave was available by email, phone and in person whenever we had a question or issue with the process of buying our home. Having an agent on your side at all times makes the home buying experience so much better.
